Mottos of "The Purpose-Driven Church"

- * Vision is the ability to see the opportunities within your current circumstances.
- * A church's health is measured by its sending capacity, not its seating capacity.
- * Wherever God guides, He provides.
- * The church must offer people something they cannot get anywhere else.
- * Five Dimensions of Church Growth
 - * Churches grow warmer through fellowship.
 - * Churches grow deeper through discipleship.
 - * Churches grow stronger through worship.
 - * Churches grow broader through ministry.
 - * Churches grow larger through evangelism.
 - * Churches grow by the power of God through the skilled effort of people.
- * Ministry must be both faithful and fruitful. God expects both from us.
- * Saddleback's growth is a sovereign act of God that cannot be replicated. However, we should extract the lessons and principles that are transferable.
- * Absolutely nothing will revitalize a discouraged church faster than rediscovering its purpose.
- * People need fewer "ought-to" sermons and more "how-to" sermons.
- * To believers, Jesus says, "Go!" But to the lost world, Jesus says, "Come!"
- * What really attracts large numbers of unchurched to a church is changed lives!

Introduction of Speaker Team

Rick Warren Biography:

In 1980, Rick Warren graduated from the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary and moved with his wife to southern California to begin saddleback Church in the living room of their home. He began with just one family. Now, 15 years later, Saddleback Valley Community Church is recognized as the fastest-growing Baptist church in the history of America. It averages over 10,000 people in worship attendance each week on a beautiful, spacious 740-acre campus. This is sufficient evidence that Rick Warren knows whereof he speaks. In 1995, Saddleback was selected as the Key Church of the Year by the Home Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention.

Rick Warren's ministry is grounded and rooted in the infallible and inerrant Word of God, Spirit-anointed servant leadership, and a genuine heart of love for his people. Some would call Saddleback a "megachurch," but this church has grown without compromising the mission or the doctrine of a New Testament church. What God has done at saddleback is amazing.

Tom Holladay

The Pastor of Spiritual Maturity at Saddleback Church. That means He's the second base coach in Saddleback's Baseball diamond strategy to help believers become " grand slam " disciples of Jesus Christ. He has the privilege of doing a lot of things that help people to grow in Christ, from leading the Spiritual Maturity Team at Saddleback, to teaching Bible studies, to developing small groups, to encouraging and enabling leaders, to just answering basic questions. He loves to see people discover how God's word fits into their daily lives. He loves to help people to understand that they can find the truths in God's word for themselves.

Rick Muchow

Rick Muchow - music pastor at Saddleback Church - was born in San Pedro, California in 1957.

Rick's attitude toward music was one of the first areas of his life that God began to change. Rick had always thought of music as means of getting what he wanted. In his own words, music was " a god " to him. But all of that changed when his guitar was stolen during the summer after he accepted Jesus as his Savior. Suddenly there was a great void in his life. It was a void that Rick eventually learned to fill with Christ. His guitar was returned only after he clearly saw that his first priority in life had to be God. Rick remembers: "Music was a god I worshiped, but now, music is a means to worship God."

At Saddleback, more than 33% of weekend services are comprised of music which carefully plans to fit with the church's purpose-driven philosophy of ministry. The music is developed around the message of the service and is specially crafted to appeal to non-Christian seekers.
